Bucket List W hat do you want to see?

Flamboyant Cuttlefish

Metasepia pfefferi

The flamboyant cuttlefish walks on the seafloor. It would almost always be changing color constantly when observed, presumably due to it needing to display a warning sign to us divers. This is a small cuttlefish, about 8cm in length when fully grown. You can get an idea of the size of the cuttlefish by considering the size of grains of sand and seashell in the photo above.

Hairy Frogfish

Antennarius striatus

The frogfish is often described as having a face that only its mother could love, the hairy frogfish is perhaps the extreme example of the frogfish family. This was one of those must-see creatures that so attracted me to Lembeh, and is a favourite among all divers and photographers.

This is an example of CFWA, or close-focus wide angle shot, where a fisheye lens was used to do a very close shot of a macro subject! The toughest part is lighting it without getting (too much) back scatter. By this technique -- a small subject is made large by being close to the camera, and yet the environment in which the creature lives can be shown clearly.

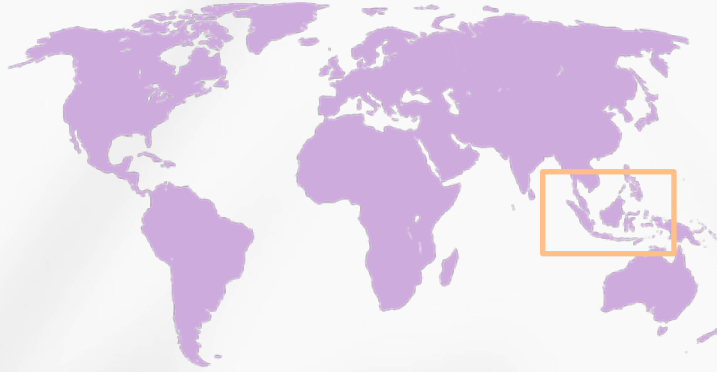

Pygmy Seahorse

Exquisitely beautiful!

Hippocampus pontohi, Hippocampus denise and Hippocampus bargibanti, 3 most beautiful sea critters that divers must see at least once in their lifetimes! If you have the good fortune to find a pair of seahorses, and they are not that rare in occurrence, do look out for the pregnant bump on the male seahorse.

Guests Testimonies

This was easily the nicest resort we've ever stayed at.

Man is a fantastic dive guide and took great care of us throughout our stay. The diving trips were so well-planned and executed, allowing us to explore a surreal underwater landscape with curious critters that I could hardly believe were real! Diving with K2 Lembeh Dive Resort was like having VIP access to another world!

Steve and Grace, US/China, August 2023

With K2 we were able to experience unforgettable dives at incredibly great diving spots. But the best thing about it is the K2 Diving Team, who looked after us sooooo well. The kitchen team cooked fantastically well for us every day - a dream for foodies like us! We would go back anytime and highly recommend the resort.

Guests Testimonies

The dive masters were very attentive to what I hoped to see and made their magic happen. It is so important to have expert eyes! Fiki, thank you so much for that unforgettable last day! I still can't believe when I watch my videos! So much in one dive! If it is there, you can find it! You went out of your way to make those dives special for me and I appreciate it!

Diana Viajar, Brazil/Belgium, July 2023

Thank you so much again for an amazing trip. It thoroughly exceeded our expectations and we are looking forward to coming back in November when we're back in Indonesia - Aliza Beckett and Arran McLachlan, New Zealand. June 2023

Such a nice dive resort and amazing staff! All of the rooms are build into the hill which gives great views all day long. Good room service Romantic atmosphere
Spacious rooms - Rene Altenau, Sweden. December 2021.
